MRS. MOHR WEEPS
AS THREAT AGAINST
GIRL IS READ AT TRIAL

He was asked what he said to Mrs. Mohr.

"I asked her to write her name and address on a slip of paper," he replied.

After that Mrs. Mohr had laid before her a post card written to George Rooks and signed with her name, in which the writer warned Miss Emily Burger (Rooks's sister-in-law) not to go to Dr. Mohr's Newport house, with a threat that she would never come out alive. The defending attorneys had been refused inspection of this card by the State Prosecutor, and the moment Chief O'Neill mentioned it a contest started.

In the end the defending attorneys won their point, Judge Stearns ruling that they had a right to see it. Attorney-General Rice and Mr. Phillips, his deputy, did not look overpleased as the postcard was handed from attorney to attorney on the other side of the case. Later the State put the card in evidence.

JEALOUSY GOADED HER TO SEND CARD, SHE SAID.

Q. By Mr. Phillips—What did you say to Mrs. Mohr about this card?

A. I asked her to read it, which she did. She said she had written it about a year before in one of her frenzied moments, as she had been goaded to it by jealousy.

The postcard read as follows:

"Dear Mr. Rooks—Just a line to tell your sister, Emily Burger, that if she dares to go into my Newport home she will never come out alive. I was told about her buying linen at Gladding's for Mr. Mohr. I do hope you will try and straighten the matter out. I know I cannot stop her from going out to dinner with him, but she will have a sad ending if she keeps aggravating me."

"My home is being watched, and if I should leave Newport this summer, my home will be watched just the same. Should I get word I will come over. The world is with me in my sorrow. I am heartbroken. Respectfully,"

"ELIZABETH TIFFANY MOHR."

Mr. Phillips introduced in evidence the sheet of paper on which Mrs. Mohr had written her name and address at Chief O'Neill's dictation. When he read to the jury the postcard to Rooks Mrs. Mohr gave the first evidence of feeling she has shown since the trial began.

"Brown told me," the Chief said, "of Mrs. Mohr's instructions to him to get revolvers with which to shoot the doctor, and added that she had said to him if he failed she'd kill the doctor herself."

Q. What did you say to Spelman?

A. I asked him if Mrs. Mohr had promised him $1,000 to shoot and kill Miss Emily Burger. He replied that this was true.

The proffer of the cross-examination of Chief O'Neill by William H. Lewis, attorney for Brown, was an inquiry as to the height and weight of the detective chief.

It was all a part of the contention of the defense that the detective had in some way forced confessions from Brown, Spelman and Heals. Mr. Lewis wanted to show the physical difference between the chief, a man 6 feet tall, and Brown, a slight negro, more than half a foot shorter.

Chief O'Neill testified that Heals had made two different statements to him.

(By Mr. Lewis)—"You've got a great number of confessions in your career, haven't you? You've quite a reputation for getting them haven't you?"

"I've got them in the course of duty that's all."

In his direct examination Chief O'Neill had said he permitted Brown to sleep from 1 o'clock until 5 o'clock in the morning of his arrest. Mr. Lewis brought out in cross-examination that the detective had gone to Brown's cell at 2 o'clock and talked to him for five minutes.

After that Mr. Lewis questioned the Chief minutely as to the incidents connected with the inquiries made of Brown at Police Headquarters. It was developed that O'Neill and several other police officers had questioned Brown for about an hour.

"Didn't you take Brown by the scruff of the neck and wrestle him about his cell and then bring him out for further questioning?"

"No."

"Did you lay your hands on him?"

"Yes, gently, but firmly."

This answer caused titter in the courtroom.

CHILD SUFFERED
UNTOLD AGONY

With Rash on Arms and Limbs.
Burned and Itched Horribly.
Disfigurement Was Awful.

HEALED BY CUTICURA
SOAP AND OINTMENT

"My son was affected with a rash which covered his arms and limbs and annoyed him very much. The breaking out was in blotches which would burst and bleed, and the child suffered untold agony. The skin was very sore and itched and burned and itched horribly. He was cross and irritable and slept very little. The disfigurement was awful. I read a Cuticura Soap and Ointment advertisement and sent for a free sample. I noticed an improvement so I purchased more and after using the Cuticura Soap and Ointment for three months my boy was healed." (Signed) Mrs. W. M. Mann, Box 32, Syracuse, L. I., N. Y., Sept. 24, 1915.
